

ABOUT ME

Argentinian biologist, Field-Naturalist, Nature photographer, and wildlife artist. I have worked for more than eleven years at the Natural Science Museum and two years at the Darwinion Botanical Institute in Buenos Aires. In January 2021, I moved to Costa Rica to pursue work in conservation biology and conservation visual storytelling.

Author of the Book: "The world of small, An approach to the universe of arthropods from an artistic, visual, and evolutionary perspective." and Macro photography in nature. An ethical approach of the technique focused in Conservation. I am Paws Trails Explorers Magazine's Editor.

PORTFOLIO

My photographic work brings to the public aspects of nature that are often little known, but are still amazing. I try with my images to create a link between science / knowledge and community. Passionate about natural history and evolution,

I believe that the power of images can be used as a tool for the Conservation of Nature, sensitizing and bringing society closer to the environmental issues that we are going through as humanity.
